Presented by the Founder: Professor Michael E. Bernard
Melbourne Graduate School of Education, University of Melbourne

"The most widely used (social-emotional learning) program is You Can Do It! established by Professor Michael Bernard of the University of Melbourne...used by more than 5000 early childhood centres, primary & secondary schools." Age Newspaper

Hobart

Venue to be announced
Friday 19th March, 2010

Time: 9:00 am – 3:30 pm

Fee: $185.00 (includes morning tea, lunch, handouts)

Who Should Attend: School administrators, SEWB and YCDI coordinators, teachers and mental health practitioners from early learning centres, primary and secondary schools

- For schools already trained in YCDI, send your YCDI coordinator for refresher training as well as new teachers to catch up with current staff at your school
- For schools not using YCDI, find out the latest information about Australia's leading social emotional learning program
- Integrate YCDI in your one- and three-year school development plan (student health and well-being)
- Re-invigorate YCDI at your school
- Hear from other participants how YCDI is successfully conducted at their school

Workshop Content:

The content of the workshop will focus on how to build the critical mass of practices necessary for YCDI to impact the educational outcomes of all students including: role of principal, management, staff professional learning, assessment and accountability, school-wide practices, parent education and many more practices.
